FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

American Fork, Utah, USA – May 3, 2017

American Heritage School in American Fork, Utah will begin expanding its campus with a groundbreaking ceremony this Tuesday, May 9th at 11:30 a.m. The public is invited.

The private, non-profit, parochial school for grades K–12 is making the major expansion in order to accommodate the nearly 1300 area students using its campus—from its’ educationally-aggressive curriculum, to its’ award-winning orchestra and choir programs. Another 5,000 students nationwide and in 60 international settings use the American Heritage curriculum focused on character-based education.

“The expansion has three phases,” said Principal, Grant Beckwith, “the first phase will be completed this fall,” he noted, “with a new athletic stadium and fields and indoor training and competition facilities. It’s a big upgrade, and we’re very excited.”

The new facilities will cover over 28 donated acres surrounding the current school located across from the landmark Timpanogos Temple. The following is a schedule of the phased building plan:

Phase I: Athletic center with a multi-court competition gym, indoor track, dance rooms, training and conditioning facilities, an outdoor stadium, and new athletic fields.

Phase II: Classroom expansion, including innovative lab spaces for science, technology, engineering, art, and math.

Phase III: A performing arts center open to the community, a separate theatre and concert hall, specialized spaces for performing arts education.

American Heritage School was developed in 1969 by parents of BYU High School Students, and has grown into a Nationally-Accredited Private K-12 program where character, scholarship, and liberty are its focus.
